The Department of Medical Ethics & Health Policy at the University of Pennsylvania Perelman School of Medicine invites applications for the Postdoctoral Training Program in the Ethical, Legal and Social Implications (ELSI) of Genetics and Genomics. The mission of this 3-year fellowship is to prepare scholars for success as creative, independent investigators in the field of ELSI research. Appointments will commence in Summer 2020. Applicants must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents and must have received an MD, PhD, or equivalent prior to starting the fellowship. Scholars from historically underrepresented groups and scholars with disabilities are especially encouraged to apply.
